

Greetings from

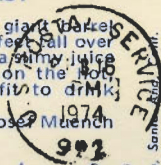

Desert Hot Springs

A SPRINGTIME CONTRAST ON THE DESERT

A gay blossom of yellow atop a giant barrel cactus which sometimes grows six feet tall over a 20-30 year period. They contain a milky juice often reputed to have saved lives on the hot, arid western deserts but hardly fit to drink otherwise.

Dear Vicki & Jim

I'm having a winter holiday Spent a week with Edna & Dawn Now I'm in the desert having a fine time & wonderful weather 75° to-day. I go swimming most days in a warm mineral pool unless the wind comes up. I'm staying with my brother. Hope you're both fine.

Love,

Francis
